Testator, E. G. Detweiler, Wrote Will Month Before Death

THE STAUFFER WILL
Elsie F. Ford Granted Letters in Boerckel Estate; Wife Inherits

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 3.—Edward G. Detweiler, Hilltown township, who left a personal estate of $500 and real estate valued at $10,000, named a daughter, Elsie M. Cassel, who was also named the executrix, the sole beneficiary.

The testator, who wrote his will Aug. 29, 1938, died Sept. 29. Real estate is located at Line Lexington.

Four children, Meda A. Stauffer, Pauline C. Armour, Luther T. Bader and Viola L. B. Fellman, will inherit the $7,000 personal estate of Amelia Search, Richland township. The will was dated April 12, 1938, and the testatrix died Oct. 10.

A daughter, Christine V. Hall, Quakertown, R. D. 2, was named the sole beneficiary of the $1,000 estate left by Frank P. Keen, Milford township, who died Oct. 11. The will was written Feb. 3, 1950, and the beneficiary was also named executrix.

Joseph H. Jones, Dublin, who died Oct. 14, bequeathed his $1,000 estate to his widow, Anna M. Jones. The will was dated March 12, 1936, and Norman C. Jones, of Lititz, R. D. 3, a former Doylestown Trust Company official, was named executor.

Elma S. Jarrett, Riegelsville, who left an estate of $9,000, named Marion J. Adams the residuary beneficiary after giving $100 to Walter S. and George W. Jarrett and Elizabeth J. Yoder. The will was dated March 16, 1950, and the residuary heir was also named the executrix. The testatrix, who died Sept. 16, left real estate on Maplewood and Riegelsville.

Letters of administration in the estate of B. Franklin White, Morrisville, were granted to Kathryn

PEACE TALKS

By Howard Handelman
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 3.—(INS)—Communist delegates to the Korea truce conference did an "about face" today and called for a complete "freeze" of troops and armament during a proposed armistice.

The Red delegates to the Pan Mun Jom meeting also proposed that neutral observers inspect an armistice. Their proposal, however, limited such inspection to so-called "ports of entry"—a far cry from the Allied demand that all Korea be opened to armistice supervision.

The Reds earlier had demanded that they be allowed to build up their airfields in North Korea during an armistice but made no mention of this in the new proposal.

In answer to the new Red offer the Allies presented the Red delegation with 21 questions designed to clarify the proposal and suggested that a subcommittee take up the matter Tuesday morning.

The Reds agreed to the subcommittee meeting with the proviso that their offer be accepted "in principle."

The Red proposal could mean solution of the number three item on the truce conference agenda—policing of the armistice.

GUIDED AND MISGUIDED

According to a State Department announcement, the Dominican Republic will be a big help in the development of guided missiles. At Ciudad Trujillo, the capital of the little Caribbean country, an agreement has been signed permitting the United States to set up gear to track and control missiles launched in Florida, 1,000 miles away.

This announcement informs the Soviet Union of something it could learn anyway, if it does not already know all the details.
Although high fences are built around the control stations and the gear itself is guarded against unauthorized view, what is the point in an official U. S. communique about it?

Several weeks ago high Army troops were ordered flunkies to San Francisco from Washington to attend a newspaper for printing story about an Army canine hunting project. The reds are supposed to know the Army dogs, but Washington will only tell them all about this country's guided missiles.

The same day this announcement was made, the Radio Corporation of America came up with news, too. David Sarnoff, chairman of the board, is reported to have developed a complex means of detecting enemy missiles. It involves picket aircraft equipped with television transmitters to relay radar scopes and relay the pictures to intelligence centers.

Have the Soviet scientists a trick to figure stuff like that?
Maybe so. But have they perfectly begun to work on gear to receive signals guiding a missile to flash back, in the same panel, signals misguiding it to its own destruction?

That's what RCA says the trick patents include. Many people remember how hush-hush the name radar was until the last big war was well advanced.

Perhaps this news is calculated to awe the Moscow reds. Or it might be put out for domestic consumption to take the people's minds off other news originating in Washington in a steady stream.

A NEWSPAPER ZOMBIE
When the dictator of Argentina, Juan Peron, stopped the presses of La Prensa 10 months ago who is in favor of the United States who mourned the death of one of the great free newspapers of the Americas.
Now the presses are rolling in the old building, and a resembling the old Prensa is being loaded onto delivery trucks.
But La Prensa is still dead. The figure of Peron that bears his name is a zombie—it looks like it, it appears to move and act like a free and living thing, but breath of life has gone out of it and the smell of corruption is over it. The arts of the magician have made the figure walk about at his will, but cannot make it live.
Only when Argentina is free can La Prensa have a genuine birth.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol July 30, 1903. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

NEWPORTVILLE—Through the kindness of Professor Meehan, Dr.
Isaac Myer Birkey, of West View Homestead, placed 5,000 bass in the Newportville Dam on Friday last.
Dr. Birkey waved adieu to the young fish with a silk flag as they sought cover beneath the shelter of the rocks. Dr. Birkey at one time was fish warden, and understands the piscatorial art. He is also very successful with the rod and line and makes some fine catches from along the banks of the Nesaminy Creek. Dr. Henry, John W. and Dr.
William Birkey are also enthusiasts in the fishing line. Dr. William Birkey has fished in the waters of South America, Central America, Mexico and Jamaica and he was one of the pioneers to locate in California and caught fish at that place.
Dr. William Birkey and General Taylor, also made surveys for a Panama ship canal in 1859.

HULMEVILLE—On Saturday a special meeting of the Middletown school board was held at the Central High School, Hulmeville, for the purpose of appointing committees to have necessary repairs made to the school properties. The directors present were Edward Briggs, Edward Pickering, David Harrison, George Douglass, Sr., Joseph Matters. The only member of the board absent was Benjamin Woodman.

The Bristol Gun Club held a series of sweepstake matches at living birds on last Saturday afternoon at the club's grounds above Tully-town. In the first match the stakes were divided between George Bruden and John Coleman. Ellis Ratcliffe and George Bruden divided the stakes in the second, and in the third and fourth William Ratcliffe and William Remine divided the honors. In a private match between William Pristley and James Robinson, in which the conditions were miss and out, the former won easily.

J. Curtis Howell is moving from Mill street, opposite J. H. Vansant's Ark, to the store lately occupied by L. J. Darden, next to Strumfeld's cigar store. S. I. Whitaker, the shoe dealer, will move to the store vacated by Mr. Howell after a number of alterations take place.

A new concrete floor and shifting is being placed in the Appleton mill on Buckley street, preparatory to the moving in of the machinery and looms belonging to William Henderson, the Philadelphia carpet manufacturer, who has leased the property.

Philip Winter, the Pond street cigar dealer, has remodelled and renovated the store property recently purchased by him at the corner of Pond and Washington streets and will move there next month.

The office of the Philadelphia, Bristol and Trenton trolley has been moved from Radcliffe street, near Market, to the brick building on Mill street owned by H. S. Rue.

At about three o'clock on last Sunday morning a telephone message was received by Officer Mus-nuff at the Bristol police station from Chief of Police Marple at Gloucester, N. J., that he had three young girls... whose homes were declared to be in Bristol.

The girls were about 13 years of age and were daughters of Thomas Waters, Spruce street, and Thomas Newbold, Beaver Dam road. They left home on Saturday afternoon for the ostensible purpose of going to Burlington Island Park to attend a Sunday School picnic, but instead left Bristol on a boat taking an excursion to Washington Park, below Philadelphia.

a number of friends last Tuesday afternoon by taking them for a

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.

John Carter Vincent, one of Secretary of State Dean Acheson's heavy thinkers on foreign policy, should be given an opportunity to testify before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. He has asked for it.

Vincent is one of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's targets and has been labeled a Red by Louis Budenz, former managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker. This set Vincent's teeth to gnashing and he sounds as if he wanted to deny it.
When and if he appears before Senator Pat McCarran, the Chairman, he'll have a chance to deny a great deal more.

To get the full flavor of Vincent and other State Department foreign service officers, you have to do some stiff reading in the second report on the Institute of Pacific Relations, just published by McCar-ran's Subcommittee. It's worth the effort.

The report scatters assorted Communists and Soviet espionage agents all through the Institute of Pacific Relations, including such handymen for the Russians as Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White, one-time aide and mentor of Henry Morgenthau, former Secretary of the Treasury.

In 1949, when Secretary Acheson decided he needed some advice on what to do about China, he called in 31 people for a round table conference. Naturally Owen Lattimore, the Baltimore bugle, was present, along with Harold Stassen, who has lived to regret it. Among the others was a Dr. Lawrence K. Rosinger, big mogul of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Rosinger has just been described as a member of the Communist party cell that functioned at City College in New York and later at Columbia University.
William Martin Canning, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a former professor at Xavier University, testified recently that he knew Rosinger as a Red. Canning should know what he is talking about, since he was once a leader in the party at Columbia University and City College. There were 40 or 50 faculty members at City College alone in the Communist party.

Rosinger was always writing learned stories on China for the Institute of Pacific Relations. And guess whom he sent the manuscripts to for advice and editing?
None other than John Carter Vincent, who was employed by the Government at the time in the Foreign Economic Administration, and later in the Department of State.

If Rosinger is a Communist there is no reason to believe anything but that his writings added the Soviet Union. Why else would he be scribbling? And if they did, how come a high official of the State Department was putting his stamp of approval on them? That should be Vincent's 64 question when Mc-Carran gets at him.

As proof of what Vincent was up to I reproduce a letter written to him by T. A. Bisson, another Institute of Pacific Relations genius who liked to build empires along with Owen Lattimore and Rosinger.
It was written to Vincent while he was at an official Government conference during the war:

"Dear Mr. Vincent: Knowing that you must be exceedingly busy at this time, I am sorry to bother you with a minor detail. We believe that the original copy of Mr.
Lawrence Rosinger's manuscript on War-time Politics in China, was sent to you for criticism. With your new FEA responsibilities, that is no reason to burden you with this task of reading and review. However, we are anxious to have the manuscript copy itself returned here for the printer, if it is conveniently possible to have it sent back. Hoping to see you soon in New York, T. S. Bisson."

Rosinger has been labeled a Red; Bisson is a buddy of Philip Jaffe and Frederick V. Field, two free-wheeling Reds, as well as Owen Lattimore. So where does Vincent get off okaying propaganda for this crew while on the Government payroll? Ask him, Senator.
Was it anti-Communist work?

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. The really awful thing in this government is waste. It constitutes the greatest of all threats to the health and permanency of the Republic — to the well being of its citizens. Nothing else is so hard to contend with, so demoralizing and ruinous.

Nothing else compares with waste in sheer deadliness. Waste, unchecked and unrestrained, breeds inefficiency, hypocrisy, lying, thieving, general corruption. All these are the inevitable accompaniment of waste. Waste in public affairs is the easiest thing to start, the hardest to end. This nation is now afflicted with governmental waste — and its accompaniment — of unparalleled size and extent. It is impossible to exaggerate present-day waste. It permeates the whole governmental structure. No department, division or administrative agency is free from it.

Some waste, of course, is inseparable from our form of government and our kind of politics but nothing approaching the waste of today was ever dreamed of in this or any other country. Many thoughtful men believe the door to unrestrained waste was really opened when universal, unrestricted suffrage became a fact. In a nation as vast as this that, of course, diminishes the weight of the intelligent voters and vastly enhances that of the uninformed and unintelligent whose votes are influenced solely by emotion and prejudice. But, most will agree that the real start of the present period of unchecked waste began in 1933-34 when the New Deal spending policies were launched and the great rush began to get on the Federal pay rolls.

At that time an astute and exceedingly clear-headed man — now dead — who knew both politics and history, said: "We have started something in this country we cannot stop." These were prophetic words, indeed. Steadily, the army of jobholders has increased, the Treasury spigots have opened wider and wider, the number of those receiving Federal funds has multiplied and the orgy of waste begun. Today one in every 26 persons is receiving relief in some form — and this in a period of high prosperity and full employment. Years ago men like Senator Byrd, of Virginia, called attention to the danger and tried to resist. But they were powerless against the appetites to which the spending policies appealed and against the politicians, from President down, who had found a formula for political success through the use of public instead of private funds. Never was this as graphically expressed as by the late Harry Hopkins in his famous utterance — "We are going to tax, tax, tax, spend, spend, spend, elect, elect, elect."

That told the story cynically but with complete truth. After seventeen years, the result is a stupendous Federal machine manned by more than 2,000,000 pay-roll employees and an enormously expended system of subsidies, pensions and handouts. Almost unbelievable waste, inefficiency and corruption have ensued. All efforts to stem the tide have proved futile. Even now when we must spend many billions for defense, there has been no Administration move to curtail nondefense expenditures, though it has been shown that $7,000,000,000 a year could be saved without crippling the defense program or any vital governmental agency.

As of today, the Federal debt and Child Needs More Than Just A Warning To Avoid Dangers

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

"SAVE a life, it might be your own." Often you have heard this appeal. It is possible that we adults are so thick-headed and hard-hearted as to be moved best by selfish motives, but I doubt it. If, instead, our attention were turned to the safety of other persons, other adults and other people's children, we hardly would fail to consider them as persons, to consider how precious their lives are to them. We might be able to imagine how we might suffer in the places of other persons injured or killed because of our thoughtlessness and carelessness. With enough practice at such imagining, we would grow more alert to the safety of other persons.

We all are such egotists as to assume it could not happen to us. This overconfidence in one's own escape from dangers is particularly strong with children. You and I can be pretty sure that any appeal we make to the child five, ten or fifteen to be careful lest he might be maimed or killed, won't have much effect. Indeed, it appears that our children grow more careless about dangers to themselves the more we warn them against these dangers.

deficit have become unmanageable; Federal finances are out of control and the President has made it clear there will be no abandonment of New Deal-Fair Deal spending policies if the Democrats continue in power. This declaration has surprised no one, it being clear that the great voting groups upon which the Administration depends hinge their support on these policies. That astute statesman was right. There simply is no stopping for the Democratic party as now

In spite of the apparent selfishness in our children, they are more altruistic than we, their parents; certainly the teen-agers are. When, therefore, we talk to the child about safety, whether at a quiet, lovely moment when we feel strong companionship with him only, or talk to him as one of a group in the classroom, we can hope to win his interest and his resolve to act in safer ways by leading him to see how he can help other persons to be more careful.

Accordingly, we should talk to the child of the ways by which he can help protect his grandparents and other older persons from dangers; his younger brother or sister or other younger or weaker children. Then he becomes the knight with a heart full of chivalry. He senses the widening of his personal power and usefulness. What is more, his moral gains are immeasurable.

From this point of view, leaders of children in character-building organizations and church schools should have a special zeal for educating children in safety. This is about what I said in discussing this matter recently before the annual convention of the National Safety Council. What is your opinion?

constituted. It has to go to the end. Few men capable of detached judgement think the inevitable collapse can be averted another four years — if the tax, spend, elect formula is again successful. That is why so many thoughtful Democrats feel the only hope for national safety is in a change.

In the South, almost as much as the Truman civil-rights program, this waste situation is the cause of the increased opposition to him.

Certainly, it is the reason so many Democrats echo Senator Byrd's feeling that if we are to escape a great national disaster "the first essential is to get rid of Mr. Truman." It would be unfair to place all the blame on Mr. Truman. Succeding to the presidency in 1945, he was forced to adopt and promote the New Deal policies of his predecessor, which were based on waste. It would have taken a man of heroic mold to call a halt and reverse the direction. Mr. Truman, an old machine Democrat, part of the unsavory Kansas City organization, is not of heroic mold. For him, there was no way to go except on. It should be clear to any reasonable person, not in some way linked with the Administration, that four more years of going on will be to invite national bankruptcy.

enough and will it last long enough to warrant a "turn the rascals out" campaign?

Second, how extensive is corruption, influence and the use of political pressure?

Third, who in the Truman administration is involved?

The election results will answer the first question next November. The others can be answered by a study of the stacks of evidence put on the record in the past five years.

This evidence goes back to the 1947 market speculation disclosures involving hundreds of government employees, including Mr. Truman's personal physician. It carries through the "five percent" story, the RFC "influence and favoritism" hearings and other headline-making developments. It comes up to date with the current internal revenue bureau scandal, which may be the biggest of them all. Republicans as well as Democrats were involved in these matters. GOP Chairman Guy Gabrielson came in for prominent mention, for example, in the recent RFC hearings. But the members of the cast of this continuing drama who have received the most attention have been close to the administration.

The names of many of them are familiar to every newspaper reader and radio listener — Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, President Truman's military aide and incorrigible doer of favors; John Maragon, whose meteoric rise as a Washington fixer with a White House "in" ended in prison; Donald Dawson, presidential patronage adviser, who seemed to have a way with RFC directors; Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham, presidential physician who doubled as grain speculator; Democratic Chairman William Boyle, who received a fee from an RFC borrower, and, of course, Merl Young, husband of the famous "mink coat stenographer."

The facts are on the record. The voter must know them, weigh them and decide who is right.

Have 120 Eligible For A Kindergarten

Robert Morris School, with a capacity of 20, and the living and dining room in Summerset, 30 students. None is especially desirable at this time but Coleman P. Morgan, chairman of the board's finance committee, said that they might be used with corrections and improvements.

All regular classrooms in all of the borough's schools are now being used for classrooms and if the practice generally followed in school districts in the State is carried out the Board would have to set up four kindergarten classes, two in the morning and two in the afternoon. This would mean two additional classrooms and two additional teachers.

Using the present building facilities with no additional elementary classrooms set up to relieve the present crowding would cost about $8,200 or about 2 1/2 mills increase in taxes, it was estimated. If two additional elementary classrooms were set up to relieve present crowding, this amount would probably be increased by about $7,000 or about two mills in taxes, making a total increase in taxes of 4 1/2 mills.

It was stated that if additional classrooms are to be constructed, the cost probably would be about $33,000 to $38,000 a classroom, depending upon whether the construction is an addition or a new building and upon the rate of interest. This would amount to a cost of $2,830 or nearly one mill of taxes a year per classroom for 15 years.

If a new four-room building were built, which the board said was necessary by 1953 or 1954, the additional elementary rooms and kindergarten classes which might be established would cost about $11,320 or about 3 1/2 mills in taxes for 15 years. Unless the State increases the subsidy to the Morrisville district more than anticipated, it will be necessary to increase taxes by at least three mills next year to take care of the debt incurred by the new Capitol View School.

Pennington Resident and Pennel Miss Wed Saturday

PENNEL, Dec. 3.—Our Lady of Grace R. C. Church, here, provided the setting for the marriage of Miss Philomena Mary Picciotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Picciotti, Sr., Woodbourne, and Mr. Anthony DiCocco, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen DiCocco, Pennington, N. J., on Saturday afternoon, at half after three o'clock.

The Rev. Joseph Barr officiated at the double ring ceremony, with Mr. Charles Baird, of Pennel, at the organ, also accompanied for Mrs. James DiNunzio, Pennel, as she rendered "O Sacred Heart, O Love Divine," "Panis Angelicus" and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy."

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Joseph Picciotti, Woodbourne, chose a gown of white satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, illusion neckline, fitted sleeves pointed over the hand, and full skirt falling into a train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a tiara of satin and orange blossoms. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Edith Vitale, Woodbourne, maid of honor, wore Nile green satin with illusion neckline, short sleeves and fitted bodice. Her full skirt had a ruffle about the bottom. She wore a matching satin head-dress with orange blossoms, short veil, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jesse Hibbs, of Langhorne, a sister of the bride; and Miss Geraldine DiCocco, Pennington, N. J., a sister of the bridegroom. Each wore rose-colored satin gowns, fashioned like that worn by the maid of honor, with similar rose-colored headresses and veils. Each carried colonial bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Joseph DiOrio, Pennington, was best man, and ushers were Mr. James Sansom, Pennington, and Mr. Anthony Picciotti, Jr., Woodbourne, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue outfit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. DiCocco, mother of the bridegroom, chose a black ensemble, black accessories, and corsage of pink roses. A reception was held in Roman Hall, Trenton, N. J., after which the young couple left for a trip to Florida. They will be at home after Dec. 20th at the residence of the bride's parents in Woodbourne.

The bride is a graduate of Langhorne-Middletown high school, and the bridegroom an alumnus of Central high school, Pennington.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Chas. H. Carter, Jr.
Pastor
Bethel A. M. E. Church

O Thou Father of all men! We beseech Thee to bless us with Thy Spirit, that we may love Thee with all our hearts, minds, souls and strength; but in expressing our love for Thee may we remember that we prove our love for Thee by loving our neighbors as ourselves.

So fill us with Thy Spirit that we shall have proper regard for each other; and because of Thy Spirit within us we shall reverence Thy name; for Thy name is a name above all names, and worthy to be praised. May we never take it in vain. We ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.
